

Credenza

Angry Ex-Girlfriend who talks to furniture

For a long time now, you've been romantically involved with The Detachable Head. After your big breakup last night, you're wondering why you did that. He seemed nice enough, but he's been acting increasingly weird and paranoid and constantly asking you questions about where you've been. The thing he doesn't realize is that you just don't enjoy hanging out in his "secret headquarters" above his mother's garage.

So you've been sneaking off from his stifling company whenever you can. Among other things, you've been trying to track down this chick, Camerawoman, who recorded some paparazzi type footage of you topless on the beach when you thought it was private. She wasn't very careful, though, and you noticed her doing so. So now Camerawoman's got some footage of you half naked that she could sell to some sleazy website – or show to The Detachable Head, which would confirm his worst fears.

The good news is that you have succeeded tracking Camerawoman down. The bad news is that she's here right now filming some stupid reality TV show. And that your ex-boyfriend The Detachable Head is here, too. And that you have no idea what you could do to convince Camerawoman to give you back the tape or whatever.

Meanwhile, your romance with The Detachable Head faded away entirely, and the two of you just had a gigantic fight. He was apparently jealous that you had been nice to Copycat, the new guy on the superhero team. Or maybe he was jealous that Copycat had a better superpower. Or maybe both: he didn't seem to be thinking rationally (was he ever?). The Detachable Head is about the last person you want to see today, but you both showed up at Cell Phone Guy's call anyway. Any interaction with the Head will probably end in shouting.

Who You Know:

The Detachable Head is your ex-boyfriend. When he removes his head, his body falls to the floor, limp and lifeless. Not exactly the most useful superpower, even when compared to the rest of the group: you know one guy's power is always having exact change? How does that help stop crime?

Cell Phone Guy is the team leader, though your former beau was always railing against his leadership. The Detachable Head always said he's be a better leader. You've not seen anything to back up this opinion.

Copycat is the newest member of the team, and has the neat ability to duplicate anyone else's super power. You tried to be friendly to the new guy, just because he didn't know anyone on the team, but that sparked a big series of arguments with The Detachable Head. Head always seems to take things the worst possible way.

Superpower:

Talks to Furniture. Sometimes, it even talks back to you. But all the furniture in here seems to be wary of you: it's all used to their normal owner, Mr. Miracle. But you bet you can get some to open up to you and tell you its secrets if you try for a while.

Roleplaying hook:

Extravagant and over the top. Make mountains out of molehills.