

YOU ARE:

Dwight Dickerson

SCHEMING HOTEL CLERK

You're a lowly hotel desk clerk, but you've always wanted more. Sooner or later, one of your get rich quick schemes is gonna pay off. Sure, every other plan you made failed utterly. If they hadn't, would you still be working at the Manna Hotel in the middle of nowhere? Some of them were probably your own fault.

But maybe this one is the one. Then you can finally show your girlfriend that you're somebody important, not just a small town loser.

ROXIE HEART

A week or two ago, you got a phone call from the famous Roxie Heart. Over the bad cellphone reception and Roxie's weird drunken ramblings, it was hard to make out exactly why she was calling, but you managed.

The important thing is that she asked a favor of you. It's a weird request, but she's a rock star, right? They have weird requirements. She wants you to covertly obtain for her "King Kong" the exotic albino Chinese ferret-badger from the tiny local zoo. I guess she wants an exotic pet, and the zoo isn't selling it? Anyway, she promised you a million freaking dollars for this badger thing. That's the sort of money that will get you out of Kansas and rolling the high life in someplace fancy, for sure.

When you got the badger, you're supposed to call Roxie's room with the codephrase "Gato", then meet her in the laundry room to deliver the white Chinese ferret thing.

DANTE / DEEDEE UNDERWOOD

For whatever crazy reason, the tiny zoo that had the badger is owned by Victory Electrical Co-op. And your old friend Dante / Deedee Underwood just recently inherited the Manna Hotel and a majority share of the electrical co-op. You hoped he could just give you the badger, right? But apparently some complicated zoning rules or co-op regulations require the badger thing to stay owned by the zoo. What the hell?

So last night you decided to just steal the thing instead. Underwood was on board, and could even get you the key to the zoo. An hour later, you were running out of the zoo with its alarm system blaring. You're not sure what happened exactly. In the frantic chase back to the Manna Hotel, you got separated from Underwood. And then you tripped over something and dropped the badger cage.

Damn thing escaped. Cage was only open for a split second before it was gone. Where could that thing have gone?

GEORGIA VANG

When the heist went wrong, Underwood was taken in by the cops. You did the only thing you could do: you called in your girlfriend the lawyer for help. Well, ex-girlfriend.

All you did was accidentally drive your truck over this little crown thing she had from when she was a teenage beauty queen. Just a normal moving day accident. You didn't realize it was so important that she'd go all crazy. But she just stormed off. Georgia hasn't been willing to speak to you for the last week or so.

But you finally got her to agree to come down to the hotel to speak to you and Underwood, see what she can do to help. How lucky is it that your girlfriend is a defense attorney? Well, ex-girlfriend. Hey, maybe not. Maybe you can show her you're a good guy, right? Or maybe she'll be impressed when you finally get paid our fortune from the rock star. Women like rich guys, right?
