

YOU ARE:

Kristen Garza / "Roxie Heart"

DRUG-ADDLED ROCK STAR

You're a big name rock star, though you recently broke from your backup band, Posttraumatic Bliss, over "creative differences". You wanted to fucking rock the hell out, and they wanted you to sober up, get off the heroin and tone it down. Now you've struck out on your own, to make a name for yourself.

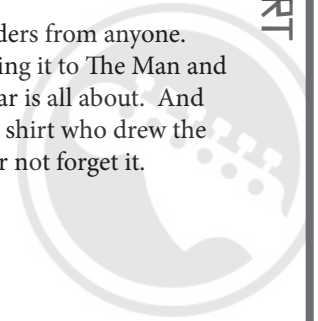

ROXIE HEART

COLEMAN / KAREN KANE

After a series of overly publicized tirades, the record company decided that you needed a fucking babysitter. They didn't want you getting into a drunken rage and attacking a bellhop (again) or passing out onstage (again). Kane is the junior executive charged with keeping you in line, sober, on stage, and out of the tabloids.

Fuck that noise, man. You don't want to take orders from anyone. Drinking to much, taking too many drugs, sticking it to The Man and causing collateral damage is what being a rockstar is all about. And you ain't gonna take any orders from any stuffed shirt who drew the short straw. You're the star here, and Kane better not forget it.

DOMINIC/DARLA GARZA AKA "WINSTON/WINONA SLATER"

One unexpected complication is your sibling's secret presence. (S)he wasn't supposed to be here. (S)he's supposed to be a cop in Cleveland or somewhere. But now (s)he's doing some sort of undercover work.

You didn't want any family here. Dominic/Darla still thinks of you as the innocent little sister. You didn't want to ruin that mental image. You told him/her no initially, but (s)he pestered you and eventually you agreed to provide some cover as a backup singer. That was a big fight with Kane, too. You argued and argued, but eventually Kane caved.

You've been hiding your most outrageous behavior from "Winston"/"Winona". (S)he doesn't know about your drug habits, and you aim to keep it that way.

Fuck, where did you leave your heroin kit?

ROXIE HEART

DWIGHT DICKERSON

Kane's lined up an interview to try to build some buzz for your show. Interviews aren't your thing. They scare the fuck out of you. You're a rockstar, sure, but talking to journalists is different from being on stage. You're always worried that you'll say something stupid or wrong. You gotta keep your cool about you. You can't be going through the Big H's withdrawal symptoms while answering some geezer's questions.

So you phoned the hotel ahead of time and asked, discretely, for the clerk to hook you up. Hotel clerks do that sort of thing for rockstar, right? Ask them to score you some quality china white, and they do so. You gotta be careful about cops, so you made sure to always use some codephrases for the drugs. The kid acted like he didn't understand. But when you promised to pay him nicely, he got the picture. When he scored the goods, he'd call your room with the codephrase "Gato". Then you'd meet in the hotel laundry room to make the handoff. How much were you supposed to pay him? You were kinda drunk when you called, so you don't remember the end of the conversation terribly well.
