FORMER BEAUTY QUEEN

All your life you wanted to be somebody important. Somebody who could escape this stupid small town, you know? That's why you were a beauty queen as a teenager. That's why you're a lawyer now. Any day now, your career will take off and you'll find a way out of Manna, Kansas.

But forces keep pulling you back. Lack of experience kept you from finding a job in New York. Poverty brought you back to your home town. And your ill fated relationship with Dwight Dickerson has kept you here for too long.

DWIGHT DICKERSON

What the hell did you ever see in Dwight Dickerson? You guess it was because he had big dreams, too. He wants to get rich and move out of Kansas. But Dwight's plans are just stupid 'get rich quick' schemes. If they ever worked, he wouldn't be a hotel desk clerk.

You already were annoyed with Dwight's shiftless behavior before he convinced you to move in with him. Somehow in the moving day shuffle, he managed to run his truck over your tiara. The one you got from winning second place in the Miss Kansas pageant. It's stupid, right? Just a crown from a meaningless contest judged purely on looks. But it really was special to you. That tiara symbolized your ambition to succeed, your past as a champion and your future hope to escape out of Kansas once more. And it was the last straw in the relationship.

Not that Dwight understood why you were so upset. This was his final failure after a long series of second chances. You'd had enough. You marched right out to the truck full of all your stuff and drove away.

DANTE / DEEDEE UNDERWOOD

So now Dwight got his friend into some sort of stupid mess. Dwight didn't explain much over the phone, but apparently Underwood is in big trouble with Sheriff Deharo over a ferret? Weird. Who knows.

Underwood recently inherited the Manna Hotel from his grandparent, along with control of the Victory Electrical Cooperative. Underwood wouldn't get into trouble on his/her own. This has got to be Dwight's fault somehow.

HOWARD ROBERTS

After dumping Dwight, you moved in with your old friend Howard. You just needed some time away from Dwight to sort things out. Howard's been very helpful and understanding.

You've come to a conclusion. You're done with Dwight. What's more, you need to get back at him. Cause him the sort of pain that he caused you. You need to show Dwight that you've moved on already. Found somebody else. Find somebody to have a fling with, then let Dwight know that it happened.

There's gotta be somebody around here that will fill that role, right? Any guy will do, so long as he's not Dwight and preferably not gay.
