

Yes, And...

You discover
something of
great value in
the process.

Yes, And...

Something else
unrelated is a
big success as
well.

Yes, But...

You anger or alienate a fellow crew member in the process.

Yes, But...

Something
entirely
unrelated goes
badly wrong.

Yes, But...

You draw the dangerous attention of the Creature.

Yes, But...

Your success
will cause you
great harm.

Yes, But...

Your success
has dangerous
and
unintended
consequences.

Yes, But...

Your success
will harm a
friend or ally.

Yes, But...

In order to
succeed, you
must sacrifice
something very
important to
you.

Perhaps...

But you can't do it on your
own. Help is needed.

Perhaps...

But you need
an item or tool
from another
location.

Perhaps...

But you can't do it here. You'
d have to try
again in a
different
location.

Perhaps...

But if you want
this done,
someone more
qualified than
you would have to do it.

No, But...

Your failure
helps another
succeed.

No, But...

You gain
knowledge or
insight that will
help in the
future.

No, But...

Your failure has
unexpected
positive
consequences.

No, But...

You discover
the answer to a
mystery.

No, And...

A minimalist line drawing of a tree branch. A horizontal line extends from the left edge of the frame to the right, ending in a large circular node. From this horizontal line, a vertical line descends to the bottom of the frame, also ending in a large circular node. Several smaller circular nodes are connected to these main lines by short horizontal or vertical segments. Specifically, there are three small nodes on the horizontal line (one to the left of the end node, one below it, and one to the right of it), and four small nodes on the vertical line (three to the left of the end node and one at the bottom).

Something else
unrelated goes
badly wrong.

No, And...

You are badly
injured in the
process.

No, And...

A minimalist line drawing of a tree branch. A horizontal line extends from the left edge of the frame to the right, ending in a solid dark gray circle. From this horizontal line, a vertical line descends to the bottom of the frame, also ending in a solid dark gray circle. Several smaller horizontal lines branch off from the main vertical line, each ending in a solid dark gray circle. There are three such branches on the right side of the horizontal line and three on the left side of the vertical line.
